FOREWORD

The BC Labour Directory is the annual publication of the Program Services Branch compiling information with respect to the membership and officials of collective bargaining organizations in the province. All information is correct as on January 1, 1982.

The introductory section, entitled Union Membership Summary — 1982, provides totals and breakdowns of membership in the province. Following that there are three sections devoted to the listing of the of the particular organizations and officials: Part I — Union Headquarters and Locals; Part II — Congresses and Councils; Part III — Employers' Bargaining Associations.

British Columbia union membership information is obtained through the annual survey of unions conducted by the Program Services Branch; this is supplemented by data from Statistics Canada obtained under CALURA (the federal Corporations and Labour Unions Returns Act). The information covering the multi-employer bargaining associations is collected from a separate survey conducted by the Program Services Branch.

We wish to thank all those who cooperated during the gathering of the information that went into the preparation of the BC Labour Directory. In the event error or omissions are discovered, it would be appreciated if they were brought to our attention. The publication was produced by Branch staff members Sheila Twilley and Patty Tracy.

UNION MEMBERSHIP SUMMARY — 1982

As of January 1st, 1982 a total of 507,965 workers in British Columbia were members of trade unions. This represented an increase of 6,964 or 1.4 percent, over the previous total of 501,001 reported in 1981. These 507,965 union members in 1982 comprised 46.4 percent of the estimated total number of paid workers in the province. (For historical comparisons see Table 1 on page 10 and Figure 1 and 2 on pages 11 and 12).

In 1982 the union with the largest membership in British Columbia was the British Columbia Government Employees' Union — 50,254 members. The second largest union in the province was the International Woodworkers of America — 42,048 members; third, the British Columbia Teachers' Federation — 30,864 members; fourth, the Canadian Union of Public Employees — 30,480 members; and fifth the Hospital Employees Union — 25,190 members. Altogether, 22 unions claimed memberships exceeding 5,000 in the province. (For a complete list of these 22 unions see Table 2 page 13).

Female union membership declined by 982 from the previous year. Female members totalled 159,431 as of January 1st, 1982 to equal 34.9 percent of the estimated 457,000 female paid workers in the province. Slightly more than half of the male paid workers belonged to unions: the 348,534 male union members totalled 54.7 percent of the 637,000 male paid workers. (See Table 3, page 14). Twenty-three unions have membership including 1,000 or more women, led by British Columbia Government Employees' Union with 25,660 female members, the Hospital Employees' Union with 20,145, the British Columbia Nurses Union with 16,170, the British Columbia Teachers Federation with 15,793 and the Canadian Union of Public Employees with 9,399. (See Table 3A page 14 for a complete listing of those unions with female membership of 1,000 or more).

On an industry basis, union membership was most highly concentrated in Trade and Services. This industrial category contained 49.9 percent of the union members in British Columbia. It was followed by Manufacturing with 20.3 percent of the total membership. (See Table 4, page 15 for industry and sub-industry breakdown along with the breakdown by sex for the industry categories).

About three-fourths of all union members in British Columbia belong to unions affiliated with a national and/or international congress or confederation of unions. The majority of union members were in unions affiliated with the Canadian Labour Congress and its provincial counterpart the British Columbia Federation of Labour. There were 347,786 members in unions affiliated with CLC/BC FED., and this comprised 68.5 percent of all the union members in the province. Of the total number of workers in unions affiliated with the CLC/BC FED., 197,294 were in international unions also affiliated to the AFL/CIO, while 150,492 were in national unions. The Confederation of Canadian Unions had affiliates with 16,569 members, or 3.5 percent of the total union membership in the province. (See Table 5, page 16 for the figure related to union affiliates).

Union Headquarters and Locals

UNION HEADQUARTERS AND LOCALS

This section contains membership and officer information for both headquarters and locals of unions in British Columbia. Entries are arranged in alphabetical order according to the short name of the labour organizations although no official recognition of such abbreviated titles is intended. In those instances where a union's short name is derived from the initials of its full name, alphabetical listing is usually based on the first word in the full name. (For example CUPE comes under "Canadian Union" rather than the CU's).

Beneath the short and full title listing of each union is its affiliation, if any, to international and/or national congresses or federations. Abbreviations used are:

AFL-CIO —American Federation of Labor—Congress of Industrial Organizations

CLC —Canadian Labour Congress

BC FED —British Columbia Federation of Labour

CCU —Confederation of Canadian Unions

AFL-CIO/CLC—affiliated with both bodies
